

THE BATTLE OF WATERLOO

An evening talk

7 for 7.30 p.m. Friday 12 June 2015

Mapledurwell, Andwell and Up Nately Village Hall

Speaker: Lieutenant-General Sir Christopher Wallace

This year marks the bicentenary of the Battle of Waterloo fought on 18 June 1815. The outcome of the battle proved to be a defining moment in British and European history. What made it so? What happened before, during and after the battle? Why did Wellington win and Napoleon lose? Sir Christopher Wallace, a military historian, Chairman of The Royal Green Jackets (Rifles) Museum in Winchester and a former churchwarden of St Swithun's, Nately Scures, will provide answers to these questions.

Tickets cost £15 per person and include a glass of wine for those arriving at 7.00 p.m. They must be pre-booked and may be purchased from:
